FEEDING HILLS CENTER

Abutters challenge drive-throughs in court

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

Three residents of Feeding Hills Center are taking a developer and the town ZBA to court over plans for drive-through windows next door.

The neighbors, who had opposed the drive-through Dunkin'

Donuts and credit union to be built at 38 N. Westfield St., filed a lawsuit last month in Western District Housing Court, in Springfield, to overturn the Agawam Zoning Board of Appeals ruling that allowed the development.

Court documents dated July 10 say the ZBA ruling is "unsupported by any specific findings of fact or rulings of law and is, therefore, arbitrary and capricious."

"I am not sure why they are appealing," developer Ralph DePalma said this week. "We went through all the proper steps to make sure the proposal was done legally. I have an approval from every town department, including the police and fire. We made changes to the plan where needed."

This week, workers laid a foundation on the site, a vacant lot that abuts houses to the north and the Pride gas station to the south. Plans call for three storefronts on the property: a Dunkin' Donuts, a Holyoke Credit Union branch and a professional office, such as a medical practice.

The plaintiffs in the court case are Barbara Murphy, Michael and Kimberly Murphy (no relation to Barbara), and Emiddio Botta. The plaintiffs, their Springfield attorney Bart Heemskerk and ZBA Chairman Doreen Prouty did not

Council tables ordinance; committee says chief already has power to set temporary bans

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

With a well-attended summer concert season winding down at the new School Street Park, the City Council this week tabled a proposed ordinance to install "No Parking" signs along School Street.

The council also turned down a proposal to allow Police Chief Eric Gillis to place temporary "No Parking" signs at any location in town — because he already has that authority, according to Councilor Cecilia Calabrese, who chairs the Community Relations Subcommittee.

Calabrese said the proposal for a permanent no-parking zone on School Street was tabled because the residents on School Street were not properly informed of the proposed ordinance, and she wants to also consider comments from Councilor George Bitzas about limiting how far down School Street the signs are extended. Calabrese did express displeasure over the fact the town has already installed the "No Parking" signs. She said the installation of the signs without council approval

LOCAL FILMMAKER

Del Negro will debut 'Aleister' this fall

By Gregory A. Scibelli
gscibelli@turley.com

Local director and producer Mark Del Negro has already had a big 2015, and he is looking to make his year even bigger.

His next film, "Aleister," is set to hit movie screens in October. Boosting this upcoming premiere has been a rave review from the website Horror Society, which gave a less-than-glowing review of his directorial debut, "Blood Reservoir."

"They gave us a bad review the first time," said Del Negro. "But they really liked 'Aleister' and everything they said in the review is spot-on, and we are really happy with it. Horror Society is one of the top critics around."

The paranormal thriller film tells the story of a young couple who discover that their house has a historical connection to a satanic cult that haunts the present-day occupants.

"Aleister" was filmed at a private home in Feeding Hills, with a few scenes shot at On the Hill restaurant on Southwick Street. Del Negro, who is from Agawam, also shot his first film locally — but learned his lesson about getting too comfortable at home.

While "Aleister" was being filmed in January and February, Del Negro banned everyone associated with working with the film from texting and or sharing information about the movie on

PURPLE HEART TRAIL

Sign sponsorship campaign begins

By Michael J. Ballway
mballway@turley.com

Tomorrow is Purple Heart Day in Agawam. The mayor plans to fly a purple flag at Town Hall, but at a dedication ceremony July 29, he had a more permanent display in mind.

Mayor Richard Cohen and the City Council recently designated Main Street as a "Purple Heart Trail," to honor members of the military who have been wounded or killed in combat. The town will work with the Military Order of the Purple Heart to put up signs along the route.

Between 15 and 20 signs will be placed, said Richard Pete, a Southwick resident and member of Chapter 875 of the Military Order of the Purple Heart. Individuals, businesses and civic group are being asked to sponsor a sign in honor of a Purple Heart recipient, at a cost of $100 per sign.

Brian Willette, commander of the Western Massachusetts chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said Main Street is an

SummerFest concludes with Kix Country Night

This year's edition of the SummerFest concert series will conclude with "Kix Country Night" at 7 p.m., Wednesday, Aug. 12, at School Street Park in Agawam, featuring Kelsea Ballerini and Mickey Guyton.

Ballerini's breakout hit, "Love Me Like You Mean It," is just a taste of the country-pop sound in her imaginative catalog. The Knoxville, Tenn., native has dedicated the better part of the last decade to creating inspiring music, based on her life, to motivate others to live without fear of their emotions. Her full-length debut, "The First Time," has her credit behind every song. The album explores all facets of the human experience.

Ballerini's approach to music is rooted in a vulnerable place. Turning to songwriting to help her through her parents' divorce, she was captured by the lyrics of Keith Urban's "Stupid Boy" and knew she had found a creative home in country music. She continued to uncover strength and inspiration from artists such as Shania Twain, Taylor Swift, Rascal Flatts and the Dixie Chicks.

Recently, Ballerini made her Grand Ole Opry debut and is currently co-headlining CMT's inaugural "Next Women of Country" Tour.

Kelsea Ballerini

"Dreams do come true," she said. "I'm seeing it firsthand. While I want to do it all, the arena tours and award shows, most of all, I just want to put out good music that matters. When I signed the record deal, in my heart I thought, 'What do you want to say to the world? Because now, there are people who are going to help you say it.'"

Born in Arlington, Texas, Guyton moved around the Lone Star state as her father's engineering job took them to Waco, Tyler, Dallas and Fort Worth. Music was a constant in her nomadic life. She began singing gospel in church when she was only five. "I was at a Texas Rangers baseball game and LeAnn Rimes was singing the National Anthem. This was right when she came out with

Mickey Guyton

'Blue.' I was completely mesmerized."

Guyton knew instantly what she wanted to do with her life, and although she possesses the kind of strong, evocative voice that could succeed in any genre, country music is her passion. "Of all the music out there, country is the most honest, the most genuine and speaks to my heart," she said.

Guyton moved to Los Angeles after high school to attend Santa Monica College. She worked long hours at two jobs, struggling to make ends meet, but held on to her dream of becoming a country singer. A chance encounter turned everything around. A friend introduced her to producer Julian Raymond (Glen Campbell, the Wallflowers) who was immediately impressed with her. He connected her to Gary Borman and his partner Steve Moir, the company that built the careers of Faith Hill, Keith Urban and Lady Antebellum from day one. She moved to Nashville in 2011 to pursue her dream and has embedded herself in the town's songwriter community the last three years.

Guyton released an acoustic EP, "Unbreakable," in conjunction with her iTunes Festival performance in Austin, Texas, last March. She is currently putting the finishing touches on her debut album with producers Nathan Chapman (Taylor Swift, Keith Urban) and Dann Huff (Faith Hill, Keith Urban, the Band Perry).

The 2015 concerts are brought to the public free of charge by the following corporate sponsors: Agawam Advertiser News, Agawam Cultural Council, Agawam Lions Club, Agawam Rotary Club, Allied Flooring & Paint, Berkshire Power, Bolduc's Apparel, Canary Blomstrom, Cumberland Farms, Easthampton Savings, King Ward Coach Lines, WRNX-FM 100.9, Lucia Lumber, Main Street Deli, Moren Signs, Olympic Manufacturing, Quality Auto, Republic Services, Sarat Ford, Ski Blandford, United Bank and Westfield Bank.

Cleveland firm buys Atlantic

Agawam-based Atlantic Fasteners will become a subsidiary of Applied Industrial Technologies, the Cleveland-based company announced this week.

Applied, which is listed as AIT on the New York Stock Exchange, is not planning any changes to operations at Atlantic, which was an employee-owned company. Terms of the sale were not disclosed.

"Atlantic Fasteners provides the market presence, products and capabilities to further enhance our Applied Maintenance Supplies & Solutions offering to a broad array of industrial customers," said Neil A. Schrimsher, president and CEO at Applied. "They are an ideal fit with our business strategy and growth plans."

Founded in 1981, Atlantic Fasteners serves the New England region with industrial fasteners and related industrial supplies. The company also specializes in vendor-managed inventory systems. It recently moved to H.P. Almgren Drive in the Agawam Industrial Park, having previously been located in West Springfield.

In addition to its Ohio headquarters, Applied has about 560 facilities across the United States, Canada, Mexico, Australia and New Zealand, including a service center in South Windsor, Conn. The company's nearest distribution center is in Carlisle, Pa.

Julie Kho, Applied's public relations manager, said all 48 employees in Agawam will be retained, and the company will continue to operate here under the Atlantic name.

Applied, which was founded in 1923, is an industrial distributor serving a wide range of industries. Applied Industrial Technologies also provides engineering, design and systems integration for industrial and fluid power applications, as well as customized mechanical, fabricated rubber and fluid power shop services.

Legislature approves sales tax holiday

State Rep. Nicholas Boldyga, R-Southwick, recently voted with his colleagues in the Legislature to approve a bill creating a sales tax holiday on Aug. 15 and 16. At press time, Tuesday, the bill was still awaiting the governor's signature.

The legislation is designed to provide relief to consumers and increase sales for local businesses. If Gov. Charlie Baker approves it or if the Legislature overrides his veto, the state's 6.25 percent sales tax would not be collected on most retail items sold on the holiday weekend.

"I am pleased that we could pass this bill and enjoy a sales tax holiday this summer," Boldyga said. "This much-needed break will allow people to keep more of their hard-earned money in their wallets and pocket-books. I have always been a strong supporter of pro-business measures such as this which provides real savings to consumers, while spurring sales for local businesses."

As in previous years, the sales tax holiday will apply to purchases under $2,500. It excludes vehicles, motorized boats, tobacco, meals and utilities.

End of summer feast at Grange

Community Grange 382 of Feeding Hills will host an "End of the Summer Feast" from 3:30 to 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 29. The supper will be held at the Grange hall, 47 N. West St., Feeding Hills.

The menu will consist of fresh, native corn on the cob, clam chowder, all-beef hot dogs, hamburgers, baked beans, dessert and choice of beverage.

Donation is $10 for adults and $5 for children 10 and under.

Reservations are suggested and can be made by calling Pauline at 413-789-2061. Walk-ins are welcome.

OUR VIEW

Wanted: A safe, clean place to stay

There's no problem with having a motel on Suffield Street.

The problem is with this particular motel on Suffield Street, and the entirely repairable code violations that town inspectors found in June and July.

The Agawam Motor Lodge is rightly being sued for a variety of offenses — debris littering the halls, cockroach infestations, taking in permanent lodgers without a lodging house permit, to name but a few — but the “crime” of operating a downmarket business that some folks find distasteful or embarrassing is not on any court paper.

Town officials want the motel's owner, CH Corp., to clean it or close it. Their lawsuit asks that the Housing Court appoint a receiver to ensure that the code violations are corrected. Last week, the owners, through their lawyer, said they plan to cooperate and want to avoid a trial. Hopefully they can fix the problems and avoid the ultimate penalty.

Shutting down the motel would mean one more business closed in Agawam, and one more empty building in a highly visible location — potentially another high-profile eyesore like Games and Lanes. The town would lose at least a portion of the tax revenue it currently collects at 23 Suffield St. To be sure, an empty building or vacant lot might be preferable to a public safety and public health hazard, but a properly-run motel — even one that caters to the lower end of the economic spectrum — is better than nothing.

There are members of this community, as there are in every community, who can't afford a suburban house, or a condo unit. Having a lodging house — or, if CH Corp. can't get a permit for lodgers, having at least the temporary option of a short-term motel — is part of the wide spectrum of housing options that a town of Agawam's size should offer.

It's hard to think of a better location for a motel in Agawam. The motel is within walking distance of several shops and, importantly, seven-day-a-week bus service to West Side and Springfield. It is one of the most built-up, urbanized sections of town. If the motel is forced to close, where will its lodgers go? Where else in town will better suit their needs — and impact their immediate neighbors less — than the top of Suffield Street?

Just as we can't all be highly paid professionals with a spouse and 2.5 kids, housing in Agawam can't all be 2,100 square foot Colonials with manicured lawns and backyard pools. Condominium and apartment buildings serve a need in town, and so does the Agawam Motor Lodge — provided it can serve its guests safely.

What do you think? Send your letter to the editor to aan@turley.com.

The mountains are calling

Earlier in the week I was searching through a box of old pictures for one while I was in the service. Just as I was about to cancel the search, I found a couple of snapshots of our family climbing “Camel’s Hump.” This mountain is in Vermont and we climbed it during one of our summer vacations. We had a “pop-up” type camping trailer and for many years we used it on our annual vacations.

It served us not only for sleeping, but was our base camp for hiking, mountain climbing, dining, and visiting museums and landmarks. Later in the week, our daughter Cynthia was visiting and we saw Kitty’s friend Joan at a shopping site.

This confluence of events reminded me of our two weekends’ adventure at the Moosilauke Ravine Lodge in New Hampshire. Mount Moosilauke is the property of Dartmouth College. Our daughter was in one of the earliest classes at Dartmouth that allowed women to enroll.

Cynthia belonged to the Dartmouth Outing Club, and they ran the Ravine Lodge at Moosilauke. She invited us to spend a weekend at the lodge and we asked if it was OK to bring along Joan and her husband Paul. They were also outdoor enthusiasts and enjoyed Cynthia’s company.

On our way to Moosilauke, we swapped stories of our mountain climbing. We spoke of Mount Marcy in New York state, Some of the Presidential Range in New Hampshire, and our feeble try at Mount Katahdin in Maine. Both families could say yes, we did climb our own Mount Tom.

We arrived at the Ravine Lodge and began unpacking. As we left the car, this enormous dog began herding us (much as a dog herds sheep) toward the dining hall. After all, Friday night is roast beef night at the lodge and we had to be on time! “Moose,” our canine friend, had instructions to get people in to eat.

The food was delicious and while checking in for our lodging, the lodge manager was chuckling over the scene of Moose herding us into the dining hall. “Moose does it to everyone,” he said. “He was not picking on you.”

After dinner, Cynthia joined us and we sat out on the deck with our coffee, and watched the sun sink over the mountains. We spoke about the hike the next day. Cynthia pointed out that there were numerous trails to the top. Dartmouth athletes in many disciplines are required to run up Moosilauke. I inquired about easy trails to the top.

In the morning, Cynthia pointed us to a fairly non-steep trail. Luckily, it was a pleasant day and the hiking was easy. A little past the halfway point, Paul dropped out and said he would get the drinks and snacks ready for our return. Cynthia had taken a tougher trail with a friend and they were back before we got to the lodge.

Our friendly dog Moose was greeting new arrivals as we waited on the porch for dinner. Sunday morning, we took a quick

FAITH MATTERS

Why are so many turning against God?

“Why do the nations conspire and the peoples plot in vain? The kings of the earth rise up and the rulers band together against the LORD and against his anointed.”

Psalm 2:1-2

Why is it that people wish to remove God from America’s consciousness? The psalmists point to an attempt to do just that. Perhaps the thought of a righteous God must have an alarming effect upon unholy people. I am not writing to condemn, because “all have sinned and fallen short” of God’s plan for humanity. But without repentance and faith in the redemptive work of Christ, the consciousness of sin grows.

1 John 3:19-20 tells us, “This then is how we know that we belong to the truth, and how we set our hearts at rest in his presence whenever our hearts condemn us. For God is greater than our hearts, and he knows everything” (NIV). The heart condemns us. And when we are confronted with a God-inspired standard of behavior something has to give. We have to harden our hearts against God and his Word.

God’s standards do not change, and he is the Truth and the Life. Nor can we appeal to ignorance of the truth. The only recourse is to deny and attack the existence of God. God has become the root of our problem; not our sin nor our insecurities. We must remove God and attack and vilify those who have faith in God. They are the problem; they are the bigots; they are the ones guilty of hate speech.

If faith didn’t matter — it would not be under attack.

hike along a lower trail, packed up and rode home.

A year and a couple of months later, Cynthia asked if we would like to do Moosilauke again. We said yes, but Joan and Paul were not available. We said we would meet Cynthia at the lodge. Once again, we had just locked the car and there was Moose. But this was a different "Moose," bigger and a different color, though just as good a herder as his namesake. He got us into the dining hall for Friday night's roast beef. We asked over dinner what happened to the other Moose. "He's now with the Gods of Moosilauke." There was nothing more to be said.

We are not climbing mountains these days but it is so good to be able to look at our photo gallery of different ascents and every once in a while to be watching TV or the movies and say, "We were there!"

return calls seeking comment by press time Tuesday.

The lawsuit names DePalma's company, NWST LLC, and members of the ZBA as defendants.

In their suit, the plaintiffs say the decision to grant a drive-through permit "exceeds the authority of the ZBA because all the conditions of Zoning Ordinance in section 180-11 are not met. The specific site is not an appropriate location for a drive-through restaurant; the drive-through restaurant as developed will adversely affect the safety and property values of the neighborhood; there will be a nuisance or potential hazard to vehicle or pedestrian safety; and adequate and appropriate facilities and controls have not been provided for the proper and safe operation of the proposed drive-through restaurant."

The town of Agawam, in a written response filed by Associate Solicitor Patrick Toney, said the ZBA decision was "grounded and based on sound facts," and "consistent with Agawam Zoning Ordinances 180-11 and 180-444(H)." He said the town believes the plaintiffs have no standing to bring the lawsuit.

At town board meetings before the permit was granted, Barbara Murphy had voiced concerns about the traffic and both she and Michael Murphy argued during ZBA meetings about the potential loss in property value. They said the noise of cars lining up for coffee and doughnuts would affect their right to peace and quiet.

ZBA members considered those objections during the decision-making process in late June, but Prouty and fellow member Richard Maggi both argued no evidence existed to suggest property values would drop. Prouty specifically consulted with Town Assessor Kevin Baldini on the issue.

The ZBA did make some restrictions in approving the permit to in response to the concern of abutters. They ordered that the Dunkin' Donuts drive-through window must be closed from midnight to 5 a.m. The walk-in business can still be open during those hours.

In another move for noise protection for neighbors, ZBA member Gary Suffriti asked that dumpster pickup and deliveries only be allowed between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m.

DePalma has been a residential and commercial developer in the region for many years. He said he is confident the ZBA decision will be upheld.

If the decision is overturned, DePalma still has authorization to build the development without the drive-through windows. He has site plan approval from the Planning Board and his land is in a Business-A zone. The buildings can be constructed by right.

"During the filming of 'Blood Reservoir,' people would just show up on set," said Del Negro. "We cannot have this going on when you are being funded by someone else. There's too much 'other people's money' involved in this project for it to have distractions and we need to be professional."

He says the ban worked and filming of the movie went smoothly. "Everything was professional," said Del Negro.

Del Negro also has a cameo in the movie, playing a cashier in the background at On the Hill. In "Blood Reservoir," Del Negro appeared as the first person who was killed and was on screen for about a minute.

Del Negro's production company helped with the post-production of another movie, "Blue Line," in February. The movie is similar to the "Fast and the Furious" franchise and stars WWE wrestler Kevin Nash.

This summer, Del Negro has been working on negotiations with companies for the upcoming release of his movie.

"We are getting it out to critics and some limited audiences to start to create a buzz about it," said Del Negro.

Del Negro has another movie scheduled for filming in 2015. The movie is a zombie flick currently named "Undead." He is not sure if it will film this year or next, but says it must be done in the fall. "I absolutely need the fall foliage to be part of this movie," said Del Negro.

A busy fall with the premiere of "Aleister" could prevent completion of "Undead" this year, he says.

He is planning to film "Undead" in undisclosed locations in Southwick, Granville and possibly Suffield, Conn.

Del Negro also said he is still on target for a big project to be filmed in Florida in 2016. Details of that project are "top secret," he says.

is not actually illegal, but creates ambiguity and can mislead motorists.

"The town can install the signs," said Calabrese. "However, they cannot be enforced by the Police Department until the ordinance has been passed by the City Council. I don't think that it is a good thing that they are there before the ordinance has been approved."

Regardless, Calabrese said she is interested in what the residents have to say about the signs. She made the same argument about a proposal for "No Parking" signs on Corey Street.

"When you are going to install signs that have a permanent effect on people, you want to make sure they were informed," said Calabrese. "I don't believe we informed the residents on School Street that this was being considered."

She asked that information be sent to the residents so that they have opportunity to attend a future Community Relations meeting or come for citizen's speak time at a regular council meeting.

"We got no feedback from the residents," said Calabrese. "That's why we wanted to table this."

The council's Legislative Subcommittee cited the "lack of a need" for the ordinance. Councilor James Cichetti, the subcommittee's chairman, said the subcommittee voted 3-0 against recommending the ordinance because they said there is state law that allows the police chief to temporarily ban parking.

The proposal to install "no parking" signs, a response to the expansion of School Street Park as an event venue, was brought forward by the police and Parks and Recreation Department, via Bitzas.

Some of the summer concerts held now held at School Street Park can draw upwards of 5,000 people. Despite the addition of about 200 new parking spaces off Corey Street as part of the park's expansion, there is not enough parking to accommodate that many people.

Temporary "No Parking" signs are utilized during special events in surrounding communities, including Southwick. They are typically placed in areas where on-street parking would hinder public safety.

People of All Ages Read Newspapers

In a typical week two-thirds of young adults age 18-34 read newspapers in print or online. Especially given the fragmentation of other media, newspaper advertising is the best way for advertisers to reach a critical mass of young people in a market.

THE DVR IS ONE OF THE BEST THINGS TO HAPPEN TO TELEVISION

It's not that great for television advertisers though

From year to year, the studies have shown that people believe in their local papers for the news they need and the advertising they rely on.

Local newspapers are also preferred in a 3-1 margin over TV, showing consistency from previous research. On average, readers of a 2012 survey spent 39.92 minutes reading local newspapers, up slightly more than the 38.95 minutes in 2011 and 37.5 minutes in 2010. The best medium to fast forward your business message remains in print.

"There's no veterans community in Western Mass. that has exactly what Agawam has," said Willette.

The Military Order of the Purple Heart also presented Agawam with a Purple Heart flag, which Cohen said he would fly on Purple Heart Day, and a plaque to display at Town Hall.

"We will fly the flag and hang the plaque in pride to honor all the veterans who have given their greatest sacrifice," the mayor said.

Junior Huskies roll to Casagrande crown

By Gregory A. Scibelli

Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – It has been a long season for the Agawam Junior Huskies baseball team. They have gone through changes and adversity, but they have come through at the end as champions in the U11 Division last Sunday afternoon at the Lou Casagrande Baseball Tournament held in Ludlow.

In addition to participating in their U11 regular season, the Junior Huskies have won the Jimmy Fund tournament in Easthamp-ton before completing their season together with the win in the Casagrande Tournament.

On Sunday afternoon, Agawam defeated Ludlow Tatro, 8-6, to capture the U11 tournament crown this year.

The Huskies went a perfect 5-0 in the tournament. They started with an 11-1 win over Ludlow McKenney, a 17-2 win over Barre LL, and a 5-2 win over the Wilbraham Falcons.

They had a close game in the semifinals against the Falcons before having another close affair in the finals.

Agawam was able to score three runs in the first three innings, but Ludlow had them matched up and it was 3-3.

In the fourth inning, the top of the Agawam lineup struck hard as the four of the first five hitters in the inning reached base. Three came on walks. In all, four runs came across the plate and Mason Barcomb, Jack Wassung and Nick Solitario each picked up an RBI. Leading 7-3, Ludlow was able to come back with three runs in the fifth inning to make it 7-6.

In the top of the sixth inning, Agawam got things started with a single by Barcomb. He would eventually score on three more walks, with a bases loaded walk going to Zach Oldenburg to make it 8-6. Agawam pitching finished off the bottom of the sixth with a scoreless inning to win the title.

“It was definitely a great accomplishment for these boys,” said coach Joe Wohlers.

Dirt Dogs battle in tournament

By Gregory A. Scibelli

Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – The Agawam Dirt Dogs put up a valiant effort during last week’s Lou Casagrande Baseball Tournament held in Ludlow.

Unfortunately, youth did not have its advantages as the Dirt Dogs were defeated in three straight games and eliminated from the tournament last Saturday with a defeat at the hands of Longmeadow.

Longmeadow beat Agawam, 12-1. Last Saturday morning, the Dirt Dogs fell against the Angels 9-4, and last Wednesday evening, in the opening round of the tournament, Ludlow picked up a 14-0 win over Agawam.

Agawam’s team consisted of several young players around 8 and 9 years old, their coaching staff confirmed.

They were not able to get past Ludlow’s more experienced U11 team. Ludlow eventually went all the way to the finals in the tournament. Ludlow got going in the first inning, batting around and putting up the first four runs of the game.

Jeremy Boothiller, Ben Riley, and Bobby Trigilio were able to reach base on two walks and a base hit, which came from Riley.

After a couple of strikeouts, walks from the bottom of the order allowed the four runs to come across the plate to make it 4-0 Ludlow.

In the second inning, Riley started with a walk for Ludlow and Trigilio tripled to plate an-

LITTLE LEAGUE

ALL getting ready for Fall Ball

By Gregory A. Scibelli

Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

AGAWAM – Agawam Little League continues to promote better baseball development and will be holding signups next week for the Fall Baseball League.

The league is now operated by Glen Aloisi, who said the players in the league must be Senior League eligible for the 2016 season, meaning they must have turned 12 years old before May 1, 2015, but cannot be 16 years old before the same date.

There is a $65 fee per player for the league and it includes a shirt and hat. Fees help cover baseballs and umpires. Equipment, with the exception of a glove and pants, are provided.

The signups are being held from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 12 and Wednesday, Aug. 19 at the Concession Stand at Agawam Memorial Field on School Street.

It is the 12th year for the league, and Aloisi is organizing the league for the fourth season in a row. Aloisi says the league is especially helpful for younger players transitioning to a 90-foot diamond.

Quinn Memorial golf tourney to benefit Antonio Bruno

AGAWAM - The second annual Tommy Quinn Memorial Golf Tournament will be held Sunday, Aug. 23, at Oak Ridge Golf Club, 850 South Westfield St., with proceeds to benefit Antonio Bruno.

Tommy “Quinny” grew up in Agawam, where he excelled in sports from an early age. In high school, he lettered in football, basketball and baseball, graduating in 1975. He earned a scholarship to Suffield Academy where he played baseball and basketball, then received a full scholarship at the University of Maine, where he played baseball. He died in January 2014 and lived in Agawam at the time.

Tommy was a rare soul who touched everyone he came in contact with. He always wore a smile and was willing to give a helping hand to anyone in need.

to Oldenburg's father, Carlo. Wohlers said Carlo passed away just a few games into the season this year.

"Zach didn't miss one game or practice," said Wohlers. "The team really came together as a family for the Oldenburgs and made the season that much more personal."

Wohlers said the Casagrande Tournament was a big challenge for his team as they won by several higher scores early in the tourney.

"It was an adjustment for our players," said Wohlers. "The kids took a lot of walks and stood in the field for the first few games. There was a lot more action in the semifinals and finals and the at-bats were harder."

other run. After a groundout to the pitcher, five straight batters reached base and came around to score. After batting around again, Riley and Trigilio would come to the plate again and reach base, scoring on a single by Trevor Galenski.

Agawam was finally able to put a threat together in the top of the third inning when they loaded the bases with two outs.

It started with a pair of walks and a single from the bottom of the Agawam order. Colin Smith would load the bases with his walk, leaving it up to Andrew Regnier to try and deliver a few runs for the Dirt Dogs.

He grounded a tough ball to the pitcher, but it was knocked down and the play was just in time to end Agawam's threat, its biggest one of the afternoon.

Ludlow was able to plate three more runs in third inning and finished off the game in the fourth inning to pick up the mercy-rule shortened victory.

Agawam played good defense in the game against Ludlow, making more plays as the game progress. Second base was a strength for the Dirt Dogs, with three putouts in the third inning alone.

Players need to supply their own stick, goggles and mouthpiece.

Registration is underway at the Parks and Recreation office at 1000 Suffield St. from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

A mandatory meeting for all players and parents will take place Monday, Aug. 3 at 7 p.m. at the Roberta Doering School cafeteria.

coming off a season where they have played on the 75-foot diamond,” he said. “When they move up to the juniors and seniors leagues, they will be playing on the 90-foot diamond.”

For those younger players, it means a lot of work getting ready for strength and conditioning of playing the bigger game. He said the throws are longer for the kids and the running on the base paths is much longer.

“Some people think it is just about making the longer throws,” said Aloisi. “But it’s about running the longer base paths, judging timing for a throw, catching a ball in the outfield.”

The league has typically had four teams last year. Aloisi said the league is hoping for at least four teams again this year, and the teams would play each other at least two or three times during the short schedule. He said he would entertain more teams if there were enough kids to field a fifth or sixth team.

He says the rosters were about 15 players a team last year, and that number helps as many of the players are doing other sports in the fall.

“We’re always able to get nine players to the field and everyone gets a chance to play,” said Aloisi.

Aloisi also said the younger players get to interact with the older 14 and 15 year old players that may be their teammates someday at the senior and high school levels.

“The younger kids really get a lot out of it,” said Aloisi. “They have fun with the older kids and the older kids really help them to get ready for the next level. Those older kids help out the younger kids when they see them having trouble.”

Little League rules apply in the league and there are no out-of-town teams in the league, though out-of-town children are welcome to sign up for one of the teams.

Any questions please contact Aloisi at 413-531-0202.

Games start on Saturday, Sept. 12 and continue on Saturdays for eight weeks. Games are usually at 10 a.m. or 1 p.m.

Xtremes stop Women for championship

By Tim Peterson
Turley Publications Sports Correspondent

LUDLOW - In order to advance to the Pioneer Valley Summer Soccer League women's championship match for the second consecutive year, the sixth-seeded Lusitano Women needed to defeat two higher seeded teams.

The Lusitano Women, who were the defending league champions, played very well against top-seeded Western Mass. Xtremes in the finals, but their effort wasn't good enough.

The Xtremes, who play their home matches at East Longmeadow High School, scored a goal a minute into the second half and held on during the final 39:00 for a 1-0 victory before a large crowd on a beautiful summer night at historic Lusitano Stadium, last Friday.

“It feels great to win another championship title,” said Xtremes head coach Vinny Bongiovanni, whose team won the league title two years ago. “We have a lot of new players on this team and they really enjoy playing soccer with each other.”

The Xtremes, who tied the Lusitano Women, 2-2, in the only meeting of the regular season on July 7, finished the season with a 14-0-1 overall record. They posted a 4-1 victory against the eighth-seeded Goal Diggers in the quarterfinals and a 1-0 shut-out win against fifth-seeded Nathan Bills in the semifinals.

Following the championship match, Sarah Sypek, who's a first-year member of the Xtremes, received the Most Valuable Player award trophy from Commissioner William Kolodziej, who has been running the summer soccer league for the past 33 years.

“It feels really good to have been selected for this award because it was my first year playing soccer for this team,” said Sypek, who graduated from Hampshire Regional and Westfield State University. “We worked very hard as a team to win this game. It's very exciting.”

Sypek scored 21 goals last fall, which broke the all-time record for the women's soccer team at Westfield State University. She scored the only goal in the summer league championship match on an outside shot into the left corner in the 41st minute, which was assisted by Leigh Strycharz.

“I normally take a lot of shots from the outside,” said Sypek, who was the Xtremes leading goal scorer this summer. “I'm very glad that shot went in and I knew that it was a very big goal for my team.”

The four players listed on the Xtremes roster, who reside in the Turley Publications coverage area, are Katie Dupuis, who's from Holyoke, Brandy Gallagher, who's from Chicopee, Emily Harris, who's from Wilbraham, and Christina Wakefield, who's also from Holyoke.

The Lusitano Women, who play their home matches at Lusitano Stadium, posted a 3-0 shutout victory against the Santos Stars, who are also a Ludlow based team, in last year's finals. They finished with a 9-4-2 overall record this year.

“We’ve always been one of the better teams in this league,” said Lusitano Women player/coach Suzanne Silva. “I knew that we had enough talented players to make it back to the championship game again this year. I thought it was a very evenly played game today. We did have a couple of opportunities, but we just couldn't finish them. I'm still very proud of every player on this team.”

The other players listed on the Lusitano Women roster are Alexandra Balatazar, Nicole Cronin, Stacey Dacruz, Tori Laires, Meghan Lapointe, Nora Mahoney, Alyssa Martins, Sharlotte Pernice, Taylor Robitaille, Alyssa Sawyer, Mary Silva, Molly Socha, Nicole Martins, and Jordan Bates.

Mahoney, who was an outstanding soccer player at Belchertown High School and at Keene State College, scored a pair of second half goals leading the Lusitano Women to a 4-0 quarterfinal victory against the third-seeded Santos Stars, which was played at the Stephanie Santos Memorial Field next to the Baird Middle School, last Monday night, July 27. Balatazar and Martins also scored goals in that contest.

Two days later, the Lusitano Women posted a 1-0 semifinal victory against second-seeded Here For Beer, who play their home matches at Granby High School. Bates scored the only goal of that contest during the 20th minute of the opening half, which was assisted by Balatazar.

Lapointe, who's a graduate of Ludlow High School and who'll be a junior member of the UMass Lowell women's soccer team in the fall, was injured during the semifinal victory. Lapointe wasn't able to play in the finals and she was replaced by Socha, who has very limited experience playing the position.

“Molly did play the goalie position a little bit when she was in high school,” Silva said. “There aren't very many goalies that could've saved that shot at the beginning of the second half. Molly stepped up and did a great job for us in this game today.”

One of Lapointe's teammates at UMass Lowell is Mary Silva, who's also from Ludlow.

The Lusitano Women had a couple of good scoring chances in the second half, but they couldn't pull off their third upset victory of the week.

PERFORMING

Staf sings in bank advertisement

NORTHAMPTON — Feeding Hills resident Tony Staf is one of 10 local artists featured in a new series of television, radio, billboard and Internet advertisements for Florence Bank.

"I believe this is great exposure for any musician and will look extremely good on my musical resume, which is a mile long as it is," said Staf, 27, a performer for 15 years. "I thank you Florence Bank for this opportunity. I hope something more comes out of this."

The video commercials, which will be shown on local television and are available on YouTube.com, show local artists at the Academy of Music singing a song about the bank, "Always," in a variety of musical styles.

That song was written by Sean Tracey

Associates of Portsmouth, N.H., the bank's marketing company. Sean Tracey said when they realized that the television clip was a boon to performers' professional resumes, they decided to create professional headshots and CDs for the 10 performers.

Monica Curhan, senior vice president and marketing director at Florence Bank, said, "We're building brand awareness for the bank, but as an unintended consequence, we saw how appreciative the performers were and how important the opportunity was to them. We made a dream come true for them."

Other performers included Colin Allen of Shelburne, Noah Desmarais of Longmeadow, Nicholas Deysher and Tracey Freitag of Leeds, Lamont "L.E. Purpose" Edwards of Hadley, Rachel F. Hirsch of Northampton, Jackie Santos of Greenfield, Jacob W.A. Smith of Northampton, and Karen Shaw Suriner of Goshen.
